LOCAL NOTICES.

Parish School.
The Parish school was opened on Monday, March 1st. But pupils will be received at any time, on the conditions already published. The services of Professor Frick have been secured for instruction in the German language. For this an extra charge will be made. Pupils wishing to study German only, will come to the school at 9 o'clock p.m.
CHARLES A. GILBERT, Teacher.
313-315-1m.

Free Ship Supply.
Mr. P. Fitzgerald has just received and has on sale at his store on a large stock of English ale, porter, Guinness brandy and wines, and liquors of all kinds, which he will dispose of at reasonable prices.
250-251-1m.

Go and See Her.
Landlords of hotels and boarding houses will find it to their advantage to call upon Mrs. Coleman, No. 12 Fourth street, between Washington and Commercial avenues, and ascertain her terms for doing hotel and boarding house work by the week. Her wholesale prices are extremely low—75c. per dozen. For piece work prices are as follows: Single shirt and collar, 10c. per dozen; necktie, 10c. per dozen; handkerchiefs, 10c. per dozen; and all gentlemen's wear, 25c. per dozen. Ladies' dresses, 25c. to 50c. skirts 10c. to 25c.; drawers 10c. to 25c. pair hose 10c. to 25c. to 50c. For ladies' plain clothes $1.00 per dozen; for ladies' dress clothes, $1.25 per dozen; done promptly, and promptly delivered. Patronsage solicited.

Saint Charles.
Good single rooms on the upper floor at the Saint Charles can be had, with board, at the very low rate of $3.00 per month.

Notice of Removal.
Schlicht & Ulrich have removed their chemical dyeing and cleaning establishment from the corner of Eighth and Commercial to Washington Avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets. To meet the wants of their many customers, they have enlarged and have just received from E. R. a large lot of the finest dye stuffs, and are now ready to attend to any orders in their line.
313-3-1m.

Notice of Removal.
The well known barber shop, corner Eighth and Commercial, previously known as the popular artist, George Steinbock, has removed to the corner of Commercial and Grand Central Hotel. The new shop is large and commodious, and is well equipped for any kind of work in the hair cutting, shampooing, etc., and will do well to call at the Grand Central Barber shop.
71-71-1m.

Blacksmith Shop.
The old stand on Sixth street, between Commercial and Alton, is now occupied by the blacksmith shop, making and repairing wagons, buggies and drays. Especial attention given to horse-shoeing, as I make my own shoes; I can make them heavy or light, just as you desire, for you all know that the horse shoe is the best. Call and see and I am sure to give you satisfaction.
71-71-1m. FRED. HOTHKINZ.

Piano and Organ Tuning.
Mr. M. Kuhnke desires to say that he is ready to receive orders for Piano and Organ tuning, and repairing musical instruments. Orders may be left at the corner of Thirteenth and Walnut streets, or P. O. Box 666, and will receive prompt attention.
813-4-3m.

Whence This Great Commotion?
The country through, among the Alton the Bitter mangers? They stand ghastr at an innovation on their privilege of making drunkards of the sick. A competitor has come into the field with which they cannot contend. DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, the undoubted essence of the most efficacious vegetable tonics and alteratives in the world, is driving all the still-born nostrums of King Alcohol to the wall. There is no disease, internal or external, in which it is not beneficially a powerful agent.
71-71-1m. FRED. HOTHKINZ.

Our Saloon.
The above saloon, corner of Eighth street and Commercial avenue, is fixed up in good style—sleazy and comfortable. Every Sunday morning you will find spread a No. 1 Lunch and a glass of Milwaukee Lager beer, which can't be beat, and there is not any change. Behind the Bar you will find the best kind of Liquors and Cigars, and my desire is to give every one of my customers who patronize me, satisfaction. Call round!
71-71-1m. FRED. HOTHKINZ.

Quensware.
I have just received the largest assortment of Quensware and Glassware, of the best quality, which, having bought for cash direct from the Importers and Manufacturers, I am enabled to sell at prices which defy competition, viz:
White Granite Breakfast Plates 60c. per set.
White Granite Cups and Saucers, without handles, - 60c. per set.
White Granite Cups and Saucers, with handles, - 75c. per set.
Large Glass Goblets, - 50c. per set.
Large Glass Table Tumblers, 40c. per set.
I invite every body to call and examine my stock of Quens and Glassware and compare prices.
I have also just received a large Invoice of Table and Pocket cutlery, Silver Plated and Britannia Table and Tea Spoons and Soup Ladles.
DAN HARTMAN,
Cor. Sixth & Com. Av.
8-28-1m.

Bleaching, &c.

EDITH BULLITT.—Please announce me as a candidate for reelection to the office of City Clerk, at the ensuing charter election.
W. H. MORRIS.

For Treasurer.
By the request of many citizens I announce myself as a candidate for the office of Treasurer, at the ensuing municipal election.
JAMES KINSLEY.

For Aldermen.
Mr. ELLISON.—Please announce me as a candidate for reelection to the office of City Treasurer, at the ensuing charter election.
W. H. MORRIS.

For City Attorney.
EDITH BULLITT.—Please announce me as a candidate for reelection to the office of City Clerk, at the ensuing charter election.
W. H. MORRIS.

For Aldermen.
CAPT. J. W. McKINNEY, of the Transfer Company, is a candidate for Alderman of the Fourth Ward, at the ensuing charter election.
B. F. PARKER is a candidate for Alderman of the Third Ward, at the ensuing charter election.
We are authorized to announce JOHN A. WILKINSON as a candidate for Alderman of the Fourth Ward.

Religious.
There will be the usual services at the Church of the Redeemer, on Fourteenth street, between Washington Avenue and Walnut street, to-day. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Gilbert, rector, at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The morning service will be upon the "Resurrection."

—Such a general desire has been expressed to hear again the Easter music that was given by the choir of the church of the Redeemer last Sunday, that it has been determined to repeat it at this morning's service.

For Aldermen.
By referring to our announcement column this morning, it will be seen that Mr. B. F. Parker, and Captain McKINNEY, two old and respectable citizens of Cairo, have announced their intention to enter the contest for aldermen in their respective wards. They are eminently qualified to fill the position they seek.

Another Lecture Wanted.
The lecture of Mr. M. B. Harrell, on last Sunday evening, was a very exhaustive history of Cairo, Alexander county, in its earliest days, but a great many of our citizens say that they are, and will be, happy until they deliver another lecture on the same subject, bringing the matter down to the resuscitation of men now living.

Noticeable.
The young folks should bear in mind that on next Wednesday night the Liberal Religious association will again throw open their hall, and afford them an opportunity to enjoy themselves under the auspices of the organization. A string band will be in attendance, and discourse sweet music for the benefit of those who may wish to trip the light fantastic. All are respectfully invited to participate.

Paid.
In our ramble about the city in search of news yesterday afternoon, we stepped into the office of Treasurer Blake, and that gentleman informed us that up to that time, two o'clock, he had cashed out outstanding non-interest bearing orders to the amount of two thousand five hundred dollars, and was ready to redeem many more as were presented to him. This is a fact that should make glad the heart of every citizen, and cause them, instead of cursing the present city government, to bless it. This is the first time in ten years when a like instance has taken place.

Sacred Concert.
Another of those popular Sacred Concerts will be the feature of this (Sunday) evening at the Planter's House. The best of music has been provided for the occasion, and a rare musical treat will be enjoyed by all who may attend. The public is invited. Admission free.

The excellent Schlitz's Milwaukee beer—sold only by Heurter and another dealer in the city—is now all the rage. Heurter keeps this beer always on hand fresh and fine.

But of course this fact has nothing to do with the concert to-night, to which everybody is invited. The music will be worth hearing.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

A Warm Contest for Members of the Board, Yesterday.

There was considerable excitement over the election of two members of the Board of Education yesterday. There were three tickets in the field: Capt. W. P. Halliday and F. Korsemyer, S. Walters and J. H. Metcalf, and James Carroll and Wm. Kluge. The following is the result in detail:
Korsemyer.....661
Halliday.....634
Kluge.....258
Carroll.....259
Walters.....47
Metcalf.....42

Personal.
—The Hon. Patrick Henry Pope, of Chicago, and lately of Cairo, is in the city on business. Mr. Pope looks hale and hearty, for which we are thankful, for he is a clever gentleman, and deserves the good will of all.

—Mr. J. R. Farnum, president of the Cairo City Gas Company, whose home is in Waltham, Massachusetts, arrived in the city yesterday. He is here for the purpose of attending the regular annual meeting of the company of which he is president, to be held in this city—shortly.

—Mr. Bennett, manager for the Howe Sewing Machine company in Illinois, has taken possession of the store on Commercial avenue, lately occupied by J. Sullivan as a drug store, and expects in a few days to be ready for business. He will make Cairo his headquarters and base of operations, will appoint agents in different localities and push the Howe machine as it deserves.

Attention Arabs?
The annual meeting of the Arab Fire company will be held to-morrow (Monday) evening, at 7:30 o'clock, for the election of officers, and payment of dues.
B. F. BLAKE, Secretary.

A Narrow Escape.

The saloon of George Luther, corner of Fourteenth street and Washington Avenue, was very nearly in danger of being burned out on Thursday evening. George had used coal in his stove all winter, and, until that evening, had not thought of utilizing the old chunks that have been lying in his back yard all winter, but when he did undertake to use this kind of fuel his stove didn't like it, and for revenge, set the floor on fire. This did not alarm George, however, as he is an old fireman, and has seen many fires on fire before, but when the smoke and flames began coming up through the floor, he concluded something must be done, so he went down stairs and discovered that through the defect in the floor he had been communicating to the saw-dust covering the ice which he had stored last winter in the basement, and in a few moments more would have undoubtedly been communicated to the floor of the saloon, and in that case the result might have been disastrous. With the assistance of Mr. Dan Kelly, after a few planks of the floor were torn up, a few buckets of water quenched the flames without any alarm having been given.

Phirst Klas Phun!

KUM TO THE SPELLIN' SKULE

—AT THE—

Athenaeum on Monday Night Next.

Spelling will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

Admission 25 cents; children 15 cents.

The Election Yesterday.

The election held at the Eleventh street school house yesterday, for the purpose of electing two members of the Board of Education for the next term, contrary to all expectations, was a very lively contest. Up till yesterday morning it was generally understood that only two gentlemen, Messrs. W. P. Halliday and F. Korsemyer, would enter the field for the office, but when the polls were opened, the people were somewhat surprised to learn that Messrs. James Carroll and H. Kluge, and also Mr. Metcalf and Mr. Walters, had also signified their intention to challenge the right of the former gentlemen to the place. The voting throughout the day was very lively. At 12 o'clock, five hundred votes had been cast; at 2 o'clock, seven hundred; and at 3 o'clock, eight hundred and twenty-five tickets had passed into the ballot-box. In comparing this with the entire vote cast for the same office at the last election, which was but ninety-four votes, it will be readily seen that the excitement ran high. The negroes were in a high state of mind from the opening of the polls until they were closed, and we venture to say that nearly the whole vote cast by them yesterday was for Messrs. Halliday and Korsemyer. The other candidates worked like Turks also, and seemed confident that they would be rewarded for their labor by being installed in the shoes of Messrs. Korsemyer and Halliday, but they were doomed to disappointment, as they learned to their sorrow when the result of the contest had been announced.

FUN TO-MORROW NIGHT.

The Big Spelling Match at the Athenaeum.

It is all fixed, and the "Woman's Club and Library Association" of Cairo are jubilant. The committee of arrangements appointed by the club have perfected every preliminary for the spelling match to be given by the club at the Athenaeum to-morrow night, and it is the general opinion of our citizens that it will be the grandest success of the season. This is precisely the idea under which the BULLETIN is laboring. The association have succeeded in gaining the consent of Mrs. Professor Alvord, who is pronounced one of the able ladies of Cairo, to give out the words to the spellers, and we are certain that a more efficient lady or gentleman could not have been chosen. For umpires on this occasion, Professor Alvord and Miss Rogers have been selected. The words to be spelled by the spellers, will be taken from McGuffey's Eclectic spelling book.

and any dispute that may arise as to the correct way to spell a word, will be decided by Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. The prize to be contested for is an elegant copy of "The Poets and Poetry of Europe," by Henry W. Longfellow, or a copy of Mrs. Browning's complete works, in two volumes. The prizes are on exhibition at Rockwell's stationery store. The admission fee to the match will be 25 cents. Children 15 cents.

The rules adopted by the "Woman's Club and Library Association," and by which those participating in the match will be governed, are as follows:
All words of same sound and different signification shall be defined; and at the demand of the speller any given word shall be explained by definition or clear illustration.

Under these rules a speller shall have the right to protest against a word pronounced for him to spell, and the case shall be immediately decided by the umpire, whose decision shall be final.

Only one trial shall be allowed one given word to the same person.

If a word is spelled according to the authority of the latest edition of Webster's Unabridged dictionary or Worcester's large quarto, it shall be deemed correct.

THE CAIRO SCHOOLS.
The Exhibition Friday Night.
A Great Success for Teachers and Pupils.

The night for the exhibition of the public schools of Cairo, has passed, and we take great pride in congratulating the pupils upon their success. The Athenaeum was packed and jammed to its utmost capacity, and we venture the assertion that there has not been a larger audience assembled within its walls since its erection. It is true that the entertainment was prolonged, but to any one who will give the matter a second thought, it will be very plain that had it been concluded at any point but the one chosen by Prof. Alvord, dissatisfaction would surely have been created in the minds of many, which could not have failed to bring with it hard feeling.

The greeting song, as sung by the scholars of the high school, with Miss Josie Phillips presiding at the piano, was good. The faint so common among young folks—we refer to the extreme look of solemnity when before an audience—was not to be encountered on this occasion, and was noted by all. The manner of the young ladies and gentlemen, was perfectly easy, and this coupled with the good time kept by them, made the piece a success.

George Clark, a pupil of Professor and Mrs. Alvord, then gave the piece entitled "America and Washington," in a way not often equalled by a young man of his age, and he retired amid the applause of his hearers, followed by a pretty piece of music called the "Mountain Song," by the scholars, and the curtain descended upon the group to be again drawn up to reveal the countenance of Charles Johnson, who gave the audience a German recitation in fine style. The scholars then sang a patriotic German song, which was very pretty, but which we dare say was understood by but few.

Elizabeth Smith's effort on "American Literature" was very good and was justly applauded.

Miss Allie Landsen then took her seat at the piano, and began a march, to which the little children of Miss Rogers' room kept time with the precision of old soldiers, winding here and there, assuming a different position with each command given by their worthy teacher, in perfect order. So well did they perform their part that they were the admired of all admirers, and drew forth the most flattering words of praise from all, upon the deserving head of Miss Rogers.

"Boys' Rights," by little Wood Rittenhouse, an urchin six years of age, who is also under the care of Miss Rogers, was truly excellent. The expression upon the little youngster's face, as he gave his opinion in regard to the subject, was very amusing and created much merriment among his hearers.

Harry Greeley's rendition of the "Battle of the Ivry," by Macaulay, was very good, and was well-received by the audience.

Little Nellie Farr, a little cherub only a few years of age, a pupil of Miss Walters', then took her stand upon the stage, and recited "Mrs. Skinner" in a manner most creditable to herself and teacher.

"The Nations," by twelve young ladies of the high school was closed with "Hail Columbia," in which the young ladies all took part, and marched from the stage amid loud applause.

Miss Katie Alvord, a pupil of the High School, and a deserving one, too, then made her appearance, and recited Mrs. Stevenson's poem, entitled "The Polish Boy." Miss Katie was told, had but one day and a half in which to prepare herself, and gave her own idea of the manner in which the piece should be rendered, but we are pleased to say that it has seldom been the lot of a Cairo audience to listen to a more excellent effort. Her exit from the stage was made with deafening applause.

Willie Halliday, Robert Woodward and Egbert Smith played "A Trick in a Barber Shop" very well. Little Halliday would make a very good Irish comedian.

Daisy Halliday, ten years old, a pupil under the tutelage of Miss Nannie McKee, recited very nicely a piece entitled "Water." She was perfectly at home upon the boards, and did her part with the grace of an actress of much greater age.

Edward Heley then gave "Warren's Own," to the perfect satisfaction of the audience.

Moore's beautiful poem of "Paradise and Peri," was then given by Misses Cora Stratton, Kate Williams, Lizzie Rumbold and Effie Cline, each reciting in turn one verse, and all proving clearly to the spectator that they had the correct idea of the author.

Willie Korsemyer then gave a declamation entitled "The Death of Leonidas" in good style.

"Spring," a song, by Laura Walbridge, was very pretty. The child is but six years old, and has a sweet childish voice, which was admired by all.

Willie Whitaker's rendition of the "Ship on Fire," for a boy eleven years old, was excellent, and under the care of his teacher, Miss Ruth McBride, he will become quite an orator.

A very interesting and truly fine recitation, and one we take pride in saying which was pronounced by the entire audience to be really wonderful, taking in consideration the age of the speaker, who is but six years old, was that of little Louis Foss, "Rienza's Address." The piece is an unusually long one for so young a boy to undertake, but he went through with it without faltering, his gesture and pronunciation being perfect. The spectacle fairly brought down the house when he had closed. This was followed by a parody on Louis' part by four little girls, which had been prepared by their teacher, Miss Livingston, which was full of hits that convulsed the throng in front.

May Harman, of the High School, did very well in her recitation of the "Gambler's Wife," which was well received.

Harry Smith, a little boy under the charge of Miss Powers, gave "Raining Days," in good style.

Willie Halliday's "Independence Bill" was good and received much applause.

Edith Oberly then read an original composition on "Housekeeping," which was well received.

Misses Annie Alvord and Lulu Pace, two young musicians of the high school, then gave the audience an example of their ability, executing in fine style a duet upon the piano, entitled Puck, which was very pretty.

A German recitation by Miss Laura Rennie was next. The powers of the young lady as an apt German scholar cannot be disputed, as she proved by this effort, and Will Smith's "Envoys of Rome" was beyond reproach. Both were heartily applauded.

Then came little Carrie Morris, barefooted, with dishevelled hair and tattered garments, and recited "Nobody's Child." The pathetic tone of voice and the gestures of the little girl were touching in the extreme, and would have done credit to a person much more advanced in years. So much did the audience appreciate the excellence of Carrie's effort, they could not rest until they had brought her out upon the stage a second time, with yells and stamping of feet. Her appearance silenced them, when she made a neat little bow and retired.

Duff Green appeared and crowned himself with laurels, by a declamation, "Robert Emmet," by George Clark, who is surely one of the rising boys of Cairo, gave the audience another opportunity to show their appreciation of good speaking, which they did, and the young orator retired amid the din.

A number of the scholars of the High School presented a piece entitled "Wife," Miss Etta Farr in the role of "Miriam," and Will Smith as the "Bridegroom." The act was very well done, and was applauded loudly.

Willie Wright's recitation of "Make Way," all gave in.

A delegation of McKee's room then recited poems from the works of Thomas Moore, Robert Burns and great German poet, Schiller, all of which were pleasing and interesting to the audience.

"Washington's Dream of Liberty," a tableau, by a number of scholars from the various departments, was presented, and was very acceptable.

"Little Mable," by Minnie Halliday, was very neatly enacted by that little girl.

Miss Phillips' little wards then Lad a march about the stage, and sang "Yankee Doodle" very nicely.

Edward Heley once more came forward, and his recitation entitled "Sunday Beecher" was what the boys would call immense.

The "River Town Woman's Association" then had a meeting, Miss Etta Foss, Asst. President, and the other young ladies and gentlemen, including Will Smith as "Gustavus" and Miss Ella Armstrong as his affianced, were all excellent. The play occasioned considerable merriment—and elicited loud applause.

"The Grangers," by the high school boys was a very correct representation. The most notable acting in this piece was that of George Clark as "Bolin," the Irish potato grower, and young Kendall, as president of the "Granger's Association," though all were very good.

The exhibition was brought to a close by the presentation of "Widow Bedott," by Miss Kate Alvord as "Widow Bedott," Jessie Phillips as "Melissa," Will Smith as "Mr. Crowe," and John Wood as "Mr. Kier." The other members all played their parts satisfactorily, making the play very good.

Prof. and Mrs. Alvord deserve credit for the manner in which they labored with the pupils and the success which attended their efforts.
